

10 WAYS TO BUILD A POSITIVE ORGANIZATION

Partner with the Center for Positive Organizations to support and build a positive organization through research, practice, and student engagement.

1 JOIN the Positive Organizations Consortium

Learn from and collaborate with 27 organizations and expert Michigan Ross faculty to build a better world of work.

2 ATTEND positive business-focused events

Attend or stream Positive Links or the Positive Business Conference for strategies on building organizations that bring out the best in people.

3 SHOWCASE your organization

Enter the Positive Business Project to celebrate your positive business practices and win a one-year Consortium membership.

4 CONTRIBUTE to a better world of work

Partner with our scholars and publishing partners to create a case study of your research-based positive practices.

5 FOLLOW our research

Sign up for our newsletter, subscribe to our RSS feeds, or follow us on Twitter to learn about new research and events.

6 APPLY a positive organization tool

Last year, 5,131 people completed the Reflected Best Self Exercise™ to help identify their unique strengths and talents.

7 COLLABORATE on a custom research project

Inform a culture issue or opportunity in your organization with world class independent researchers.

8 HOST a Magnify team

5 students could spend a week at your organization increasing awareness and fostering positive practices.

9 ENGAGE with the +LAB

Share your experiences with 101 students who are learning the theory and practice of Positive Organizational Scholarship.

10 GAIN a fresh perspective

Partner with Michigan Ross' Multidisciplinary Action Project to engage MBA students on an organizational challenge or opportunity.
