

CONSORTIUM

POSITIVE ORGANIZATIONS CONSORTIUM

The Positive Organizations Consortium is the preeminent peer-to-peer learning and networking cooperative designed to enhance the business effectiveness and sustainability of positive organizational change. The Consortium unites researchers and organizational change leaders in the quest to build a better working world where employees are healthier, more engaged, and more loyal, and companies are more financially successful.

Key areas of focus include:

- Employee engagement and retention
- Positive leadership
- Learning and development
- Positive relationships, meaning, and purpose
- Making the business case for positive organizations

CPO MISSION: TO INSPIRE + ENABLE LEADERS TO BUILD
HIGH-PERFORMING ORGANIZATIONS THAT BRING OUT THE BEST IN PEOPLE.

“There is a purpose here, to demonstrate to the world the leveraged power of workplace culture to power up the effectiveness and positive impact of business. Who wouldn't want to be a part of that?”

Chris Murchison
Former Vice President for Staff Development and Culture, HopeLab

To explore Positive Organizations Consortium membership, contact Esther Kyte, Associate Director of Partner Relations, at 734 474-2604 or ekyte@umich.edu.

Center for Positive Organizations
Stephen M. Ross School of Business
University of Michigan
701 Tappan St.
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109-1234
T: 734 647-8154

Membership

DETAILS

- Biannual in-person events for two (2) people from member organizations
- Regular webinars and research-focused events for up to ten (10) organizational participants

BENEFITS

In this exclusive peer network, members inspire one another, spur new action, share research and resources, and sustain the community of practitioners. Members also:

- Collaborate with other industry leaders at private member meetings and within member-driven working groups.
- Learn how others are applying the research concepts in ways that improve business performance.
- Get priority access to cutting-edge research linking positive practices to organizational resilience, innovation, and growth.
- Participate in new research projects or initiate custom research with Center for Positive Organizations faculty designed to promote evidence-based HR practices.
- Build relationships with selective students with an expressed interest in Positive Organizational Scholarship.
- Receive significant tuition discounts on select Michigan Ross Executive Education programs, such as “Becoming a Positive Leader.”

2018 RATES

Rates vary based on company revenue and type. For companies that make:

Under $100MM revenues/year:

- $5,000 per year

$100-500MM revenues/year:

- $10,000 per year

Over $500MM in revenues/year:

- $15,000 per year

To learn more about the Positive Organizations Consortium, visit:

positiveorgs.bus.umich.edu/consortium

positiveorgs.bus.umich.edu

Center for Positive Organizations

EQUIPPING LEADERS TO BUILD GREAT PLACES TO WORK

Michigan Ross is working to redefine “business” as a place of purpose, contribution, and growth—for individuals and society. That belief in the power of business as a force for positive change in the world is reflected here at the Center for Positive Organizations.

Over the last 15 years we have earned international recognition for our impact on research and practice. We are the leading research hub focused on the leadership, strategies, systems, culture, and practices of high-performing organizations that enable people to be their best selves in the workplace.